

E-Journals

This is a very brief guide to accessing the electronic (or e-) journals via NICE Evidence Search.

What are e-journals?

E-journals are electronic versions of journals that are made available to you via your web-browser. The NHS and your local library service subscribe to a range of electronic resources, including e-journals.

How do I access them?

You can get access to these resources via NICE Evidence Search Journals and Databases via this web page: <http://www.nice.org.uk/about/what-we-do/evidence-services/journals-and-databases>.

To access the journals available to you:

- Click on A-Z list of nationally available journals.
- Log on with your Athens username and password.

Using My Journals

The My Journals interface allows you to search for Journal Titles:

Free-text search:

Enter the search terms you are looking for and click search.

Results:

Your results may be different depending on the subscriptions available from your Library Service.
